

AIR Conference

The interventions to reduce health inequalities in the European regions :
the best practices and recommendations in primary care settings

Final conference April 19th, 2012

At Danubius Health Spa Resort Helia, Budapest (Hungary)

Final conference of the AIR Project "Addressing Inequalities Interventions in Regions" 19th April 2012, Budapest

The interventions to reduce health inequalities in the European regions :
the best practices and recommendations in primary care settings.

M O R N I N G

09:00 AM Welcome

09:45 AM Opening of the conference

Zoltan Kovacs, director of DEKUT, Research Establishment, Debrecen, Hungary

Solange Ménival, vice president health, social and sanitary careers of the Regional council of Aquitaine, President of the European network ENRICH, Bordeaux, France

10:00 AM Presentation of the AIR Project – Addressing Inequalities Interventions in Regions on reduction of health inequalities in primary care settings

Rachid Salmi, scientific coordinator of the AIR project and director of Bordeaux School of Public Health, Bordeaux, France

10:15 AM Final results of the AIR project – best practices and recommendations
Moderator : Ziggy Kovacs from DEKUT, Debrecen, Hungary

🚩 Lessons learnt from scientific studies of the AIR Project

Rachid Salmi, scientific coordinator of the AIR project and director of Bordeaux School of Public Health, Bordeaux, France

🚩 The five the most illustrative European interventions on reducing health inequalities in primary care settings

- Drug action Networking in local Community – Korcula Pilot Project

Matija Cale Mratovic, physician and director of Public health institute, Croatia

- Smoking Interventions in Institutionalized populations : mental illness people and prisoners

Begoña Gil Barcenilla, pediatrician, Andalusion Health Service, Spain

- HIV/AIDS Prevention and Control

Helena Ferreira, public health doctor, Regional Health Administration of Algarve, Portugal

- Regional Nutrition and Health Program for children and teenagers

Hélène Thibault, pediatrician, CHU of Bordeaux – Répop - Bordeaux School of Public Health, France

- Health promotion plan 2010-2012 in Hainaut

Pierre Bizel, from the Health Observatory in Hainaut, Mons, Belgium

🚩 Recommendations to reduce health inequalities in the European regions

Antonio Daponte Codina, professor of the Andalusian public health school, Granada, Spain

12:30 PM Lunch

Final conference of the AIR Project "Addressing Inequalities Interventions in Regions" 19th April 2012, Budapest

The interventions to reduce health inequalities in the European regions :
the best practices and recommendations in primary care settings.

A F T E R N O O N

2:00 PM Indicators of health inequalities in regions of the European Union : I2sare project

Frédéric Imbert, director of Regional health observatory in Alsace, National federation of regional health observatories, Strasbourg, Paris, France

2:15 PM Round Table : Which solutions and means to reduce health inequalities in the European regions?

Chairman : Luc Berghmans, physician and director of the Health observatory in Hainaut, Mons, Belgium

Erio Ziglio, head of the European regional office for health and development of the World health organisation, Venice, Italy

Roisin Rooney, health expert at the Executive Agency for Health and Consumers, Luxemburg

Celia Gomez, general director for health planning and innovation of the regional Ministry of Health of Andalusia, Spain

Solange Ménival, vice president health, social and sanitary careers of the Regional council of Aquitaine, President of the European network ENRICH, Bordeaux, France

Martins dos Santos, president of the board of the Regional Health Authority of Algarve Region, Portugal

4:00 PM Conclusion

Solange Ménival, vice president health, social and sanitary careers
of the Regional council of Aquitaine, President of the European
network ENRICH, Bordeaux, France

Rachid Salmi, scientific coordinator of the AIR project and director of Bordeaux School of Public Health, Bordeaux, France

HAVE A GOOD SEMINAR